

iubmb&febs
Sevilla 2012

www.iubmb-febs-2012.org

SEVILLA

SEVILLA is

A photograph of an archaeological site in Seville, Spain, showing Roman ruins. The foreground features a large, intricate mosaic floor with geometric and floral patterns in red, yellow, and black. Several stone columns and fragments are scattered across the site. In the background, a modern glass and metal walkway allows visitors to view the ruins from above. The word "HISTORY" is overlaid in large white letters.

HISTORY

ROMAN RUINS SURVIVE IN DOWNTOWN SEVILLE

ROYAL ALCAZAR PALACE
Europe's oldest Royal Palace still in use.
It was declared in 1987 World Heritage Site by UNESCO.

CATHEDRAL

The largest Gothic building in Europe. It was declared in 1987 World Heritage Site by UNESCO.

ARCHIVE OF THE INDIES

Houses the most valuable of the extant documentation for the Spanish colonial world from the 15th through 19th centuries.
It was declared in 1987 World Heritage Site by UNESCO

CULTURE

Opera, ballet, music, theatre performances at different stages throughout the city.

ART

MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS

Is considered the second biggest art gallery in Spain.
Essential to understand the Baroque painting (Zurbarán, Murillo, Valdes Leal ...).

CARTHUSIAN MONASTERY AND ANDALUSIAN CONTEMPORARY ART CENTRE which houses an important artistic and archaeological heritage in a rejuvenated building surrounded by wonderful gardens.

A close-up photograph of a person playing a flamenco guitar. The guitar has a warm, yellowish-brown body and a dark fretboard. The player's hands are visible, with the left hand on the neck and the right hand strumming. In the foreground, another person's hands are shown clapping, with fingers spread and palms facing each other. The background is blurred, showing more of the guitar player and some indistinct shapes. The overall lighting is warm and focused on the hands and the guitar.

FLAMENCO

This Andalusian artistic expression has become universal art.

Flamenco was included in the Representative List of Intangible World Cultural Heritage of Humanity in 2010.

MONUMENTS

THE GIRALDA

example of the mixture of cultures that makes up Seville:
Minaret of the old Mosque, Bell Tower of the current Cathedral, overlooking the whole town.

SPAIN SQUARE

Created as a venue of the 1929 Ibero-American Exhibition, its semielliptical shape represents the embrace of Spain and its former colonies.

AVANT-GARDE

BARQUETA BRIDGE

the most emblematic bridge built for the 1992 Universal Exhibition.

METROPOL PARASOL

finished in 2011, is a new and striking modern building —the world's largest wooden structure— built over a traditional market.

INNOVATION

RENEWABLE ENERGIES

Solucar Complex is the largest solar complex in Europe, sited nearby Seville and generating enough electricity to supply ca. 94,000 homes.

AERONAUTICS

The new A400M design aircraft is assembled at the EADS (European Aeronautic Defense and Space Company) plant in Seville.

TAPAS

Spanish hallmark and part of Seville lifestyle. Sevillian flavor in small bites.

Going for tapas is a unique and fun experience which allows to discover the Spanish flavors and to take part of the social scene in Spanish bars.

Seafood, paella, deep-fried fishes, croquettes, stews, ham, vegetables...
all in small portions and served with excellent wines.

A scenic view of a sandy beach and a rocky cliff under a clear blue sky. The word "NATURE" is overlaid in large white letters. The beach is golden sand, and the cliff is yellowish-brown rock. The ocean is a deep blue, and the sky is a lighter blue. There are some small figures of people on the beach and a few small boats in the distance.

NATURE

Magnificent natural spaces and great sandy beaches barely an hour and half drive from Seville on both banks of the mouth of Guadalquivir river. Also, the Doñana National Park, designated a Biosphere Reserve under the UNESCO, is a mosaic of ecosystems that harbors unique biodiversity in Europe.

BEAUTY

The Guadalquivir River at twilight, with a view of the Gold Tower at the shore, where the treasures from the New World were unloaded.

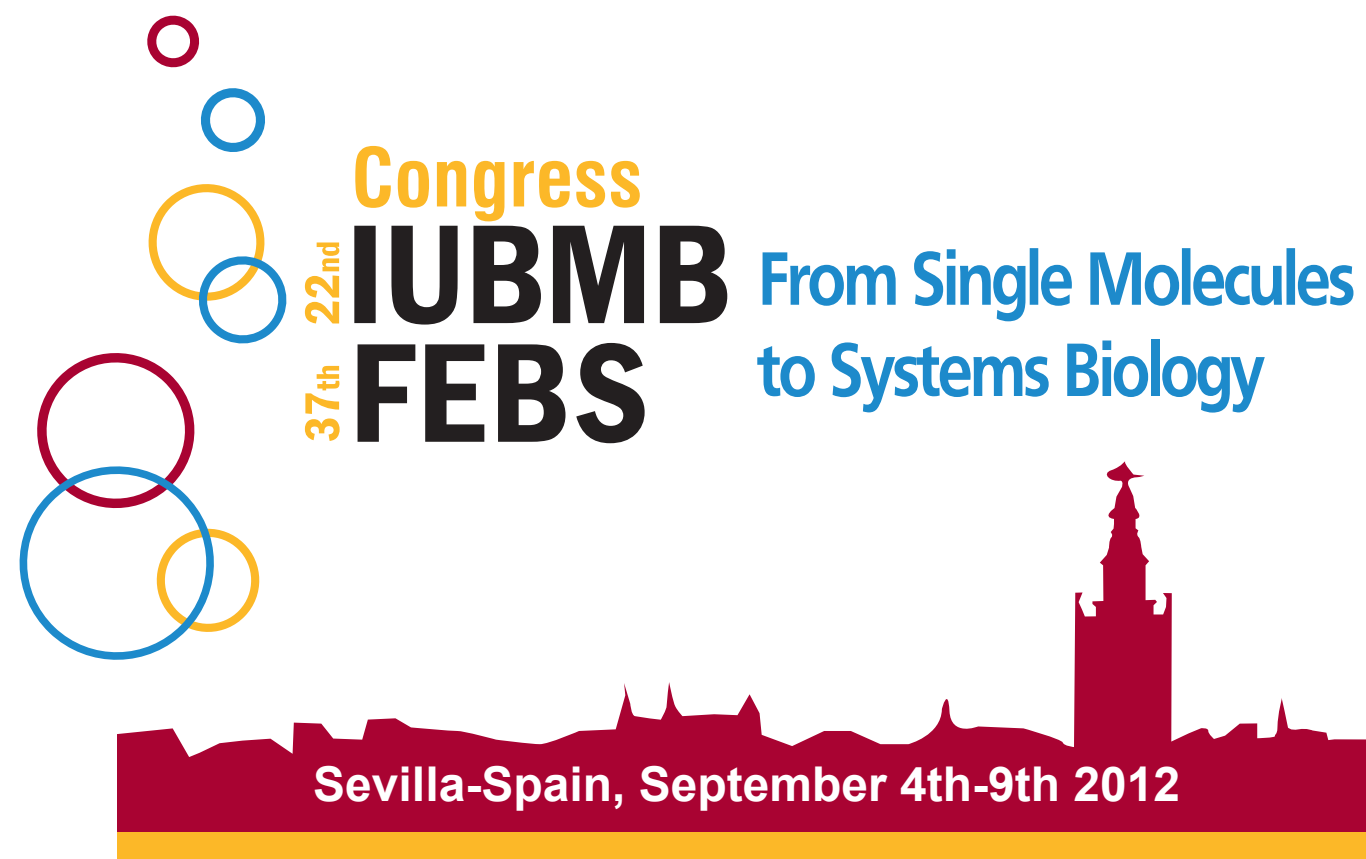

PERFUME

Seville is light and color, but also smell.
A delight for your senses: jasmine, lavender and orange blossoms flood the streets air.

I WILL LIVE SEVILLA

I WILL LOVE
SEVILLA

www.iubmb-febs-2012.org